

Ann Mortimore

I earned a B.A. in Psychology at Rutgers University and a Multiple Subject Teaching Credential at National University. While completing my Masters in Education, Curriculum and Instruction at San Diego State, I developed curriculum to teach Geometry through the Performing Arts. I have taught at every grade level from pre-kindergarten through adult.

My favorite leisure-time activities include travel, theatre, exercise, outdoor activities, and swing dancing.

I have been at GSDA since 2004, love working with an awesome staff, and I am passionate about working with my families to meet their goals.
